GIANTS UNABLE TO BAT WITH EFFECT. DEFEATED BY A SCORE OF 2 TO 0-BROOKLYN WINS FROM RANSAS CITY.

Some people will blame Titcomb, New-York's nervous little pitcher, for the loss of yesterday's game at the Polo Grounds, but some people are basedell cranks. Titcomb had nothing to do with the loss of the game; in fact, he had nothing to do with the loss of the game; in fact, he pitched a better game than did his high-priced rival, called the brunetle $10.000 beauty. The reason that the Boston nine wen was principally because the local players could not bet, and because of blunders in the field by Ward. Murphy and Stattery. The throwing of these players resembled the efforts of a school girl trying to kneek persimmons of a tree. Just 3.500 spectators went to the Polo Grounds to witness the match. Fortunately for the Boston club, their expected new second basernam, Culm, did not arrive. Higgine's work could not have been surpassed. Richardson also played a splendid game in the field. Welch or Keefe will pitch for New-York today, and an entirely different result may be expected. The local players appeared in their new suits of white to-day, and an entirely different new suits of white The local players appeared in their new suits of white and marcon, and presented a decidedly neat appearance. The Boston players were the first to score, making one run in the sixth lanting. Thromb had prevented the visitrun in the sixth inning. Titcomb had prevented the vaniing players from making a hit up to this time. The local players in the five innings had made four hits, but they were so badly scattered that they did not assess in making a run. In the sixth inning wild throws by Murphy and Eliattery were responsible for the one run made for Boston.

Clarkson, the first batter, made a hit just past Whitney.
He got to second on a wild throw by Murphy and to third and home on a poor throw to third base by Slattery. The second and final run of the game went to the visiting club in the eighth inning. Glenn reached first on another blunder by Ward. Clerkson hit safely to right field, advanoing Glenn to second. Johnson was put out and then Brown forced out Clarkson at second base. Clarkson interfered with Ward or a double play might have been made. A second before Kelly struck out Murphy allowed the bell to pass him and as it atrack Valentine, Glenn scored. From the third to the ninth lening the local nine did not get a man on first base. The score was as follows:

Washington, Aug. 28.—Up to the sixth inning to-day the Washington-Philadelphia game was a pretty exhibition of playing, but the visitors in that inning hit Widner rather freely and, aded by several wiff throws by Mack, drew away from the home players and won easily. Sanders, as usual, purried the home players, so much so that only three scattering hits were made and not a run carned. The visitors won the gene in the sixth inning. Fogarty ted off with a two-base his. Bastian and Wood were easily retired, but Fogarty scored on Farrar's single and the latter player crossed the plate on Schriver's double.
